Your Virtue,

السلام عليكم ورحمة الله وبركاته

Thank you for your kind invitation to participate in the Global Summit of Religious Leaders held as part of COP29 in Baku. My representative, Kinana Jamaluddin, has conveyed to me the remarkable success of this vital gathering which brought together nearly 300 religious leaders and delegates from 55 countries.

The summit's theme, which focused on fostering a greener Earth, resonates deeply with the teachings of Islam and the guidance of our prophet, Nabi Mohammed ﷺ who taught us that 'All of Creation is a family dependent upon Allah, and that the most beloved of Creation to Him is the one who benefits His family the most'. A greener world is a better world for all Creation, and our efforts in this regard ensure Allah Ta'ala's affection and benevolence.

The coming together of diverse faiths to address the pressing challenge of climate change exemplifies how religious communities can contribute meaningfully to global environmental stewardship. I am heartened to see this gathering reinforce the significance of spiritual values and principles in the context of our contemporary environmental challenges.

I congratulate you and the Government of Azerbaijan on successfully hosting the religious summit and pray for the fruitful conclusion of the ongoing COP29 proceedings. May the Almighty bless your continued efforts in fostering interfaith dialogue and environmental consciousness.

With prayers and best wishes,

Syedna Mufaddal Saifuddin
